Enriching our employee experience

We live in a society where we want to be part of something bigger; we want to feel like we're part of a team.

When you are out of town and you see someone wearing a jersey from your favorite sports team, you sense an instant connection. You're unified and part of something bigger than yourself.

The feeling of unity is one reason why cultivating a company culture is an important aspect of our business.

Unity positively impacts the company by solidifying values and goals among us, and also increases our morale.

Having a defined company culture gives our team something to be excited about. It comprises the beliefs and behaviors that influence how employees and leadership interact with one another and how we handle business transactions. It embodies the core values of our company that each team member emulates.

What we're doing

The employee engagement initiative is a company-wide program aimed at building visibility and trust through transparent conversations. Employees can freely communicate with one another and gain access to key company leaders.

While the initiative is planned to be ongoing, it will at first be comprised of three phases: an initial period to build out the tools, forum, and guidelines, a middle phase to engage employees and collect feedback, and a third phase of empowering our employees to join groups and committees that translate ideas into action.

What makes an effective prompt?

Effective

- ✓ Specific and detailed
- ✓ In full sentences, with instructions
- ✓ Notes the tone, purpose, preferred format, etc.

Example: Recap the findings of the article I've copied below and include the top 3 concerns. Provide the answer in two to three paragraphs and use a business tone.

Less Effective

- × Vague
- × Just a few words
- × No context on preferred output

Example: Summarize news about [company name].

The recap may be more vague than desired, or in a format that you were not seeking.

But there are no 'wrong' prompts because natural, conversational language is welcome.
Experiment away!

Prompt Inspiration

- Ask me 3 questions, one by one, to help me draft an email about [topic].
- I am getting ready to kickoff a new project with [Customer]. Give me a brief description of the company, links to their website and LinkedIn and let me know if there have been any recent news posts referencing them.
- Create a stacked bar chart showing the breakdown by topic, for the results from this survey.
